BY MARY G. SEILEY

Plans for a 108-unit apartment complex off Highway 90 behind ABC Rentals were killed Tuesday.

Bay St. Louis City Council agreed with the Planning and Zoning Commission in denying a request for building the complex on a commercially-zoned tract.

The unanimous action came after council President James Thrifflay read the commission's report aloud, detailing all the points of opposition the project had drawn at a recent meeting.

There was no other discussion of the issue before council voted 5-0 to refuse permission for the $3.7 million proposal. Residents of a nearby neighborhood had waged a major protest to the apartment complex last week, saying it would devalue their property, and draw unwanted traffic into the area.

In other action, councilmen said they'd like to know what's in the city code to regulate parking 18-wheel trucks, buses, and large motor homes in residential areas. If there aren't rules on the books to control such situations, council members asked that the city attorney to draft some.

The issue arose after residents of one neighborhood complained about three commercial buses being parked in their area. Reports are the buses' owner cleans and services the vehicles while they're parked on a city street.

Rock music event generates big noise, major headaches

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Revelers may have had a great time at the outdoor rock music event staged by Dan B's over the weekend, but city leaders are fuming about it.

In fact, they're talking about tossing the municipal code book at such events. Dan B's is talking about tossing deceased mulets instead.

Ken Murphy, one of Dan B's owners, said Wednesday that the music was, indeed, too loud. "We concede it was a little loud," Murphy said, "and we want to remedy that... We're sorry if we kept anybody awake. We don't want to do that."

At the same time, he added, Dan B's is planning to continue using its outdoor property for

Bayou Town Theatre to appear at Coliseum

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

The Bayou Town Musical Puppet Theatre will present five performances Saturday at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum and Convention Center.

The Hancock County headquartered Puppet Theatre will perform at the 1994 Water Safety Fair sponsored by Memorial Hospital in Gulfport and the Mississippi Coast Coliseum and Convention Center.

Cherie Schadler of Bayou Puppet Theatre said, a new set, puppets, and script pertaining to water has been developed for the shows scheduled for 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5 p.m. Saturday.

The performances are on behalf of the Mississippi Gulf Coast's Marine Trash Task Force.

Schadler has given a number of puppet performances in all elementary schools located in Hancock County and the Bay-Waveland areas. She is also a member of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's Beautification Committee.

Cherie and husband Ron Schadler perform and are owners of Bayou Town Puppet Theatre.

Admission is free for the puppet theatre shows.

The Water Safety Fair encourages people to be water safe and environmentally aware and responsible in and around water, and to recognize the important role that water and seafood play along the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Galaxy plan review set for Thursday

Galaxy Casino's plans to locate in the Lakeshore area of Beach Boulevard are up for action May 26 in Biloxi.

The state commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks will consider the application in a 9 a.m. meeting set for the Broadwater Beach hotel.

The commission rejected the casino's plans in March, but backers of the proposal are asking for reconsideration.

Rejection of the plans earlier was based on negative recommendations from the Bureau of Marine Resources. The gaming facility's proposed site is designated as a General Use District, normally reserved for recreation. The commission has refused to change the casino site's designation to accommodate the facility.

Water line ownership plugs sewer

BY MARY G. SEILEY

City officials had a major surprise Tuesday for Cedar Point residents who were geared up to demand construction of long-promised sewer lines in their area.

The sewer project -- ready to go to bid -- was hung up at the last minute by demands from officials of a utility company nobody's heard from in years, city officials say. Litigation is a looming possibility, although negotiations are underway to resolve the conflict.

Mayor Eddie Farve characterized the situation as "some-what of a standstill."

The problem has been discussed recently in closed-door sessions of City Council, due to the potential lawsuit the situation could spark. In a workshop session Monday, council members said they wish they could unleash all the facts for public consumption.

Tuesday, they let go of some of the story when angry Cedar Point citizens turned out at City Council's meeting.

The mayor made a vague reference to the "Sea Shores Utilities problem," saying only that negotiations were scheduled for Wednesday on the matter.

Councilman Charles Sciana, however, pressed the mayor to explain as much as he could of the situation publicly, so the citizens would understand the city's situation.

Favre said the utility company obtained a state certification.

Woman needs transplant

BY CHARLEE MARSHALL

Cassie Green is fighting for her life. The 20-year-old Pass Christian resident desperately needs a bone marrow transplant to help her body battle the ravages of Acute Lymphoblastic Leukemia — and time is running out.

She was diagnosed with the disease Monday, April 27, 1992 by her family physician, Dr. W.K. Stewart, and was admitted to Gulfport Memorial Hospital the same night. She was sent to the University of Mississippi Medical Center in Jackson later that week for further treatment. Since then she's fallen in and out of remission five times.

She had been in the bloom of good health but had taken on a pallor like paste and was feeling tired before her illness was diagnosed.

"She thought she had a cold," said her stepfather, Bill Matthews. Her mother Janet has three other daughters that he helped rear since their marriage.

The Matthews family attends the Word of Faith Church. A marrow donor drive by fellow members, coordinated

15 graduate from drug, alcohol rehab course

BY CHARLEE MARSHALL

Ten Cubans and five Americans earned certificates of completion last week after they graduated from classes in drug and alcohol rehabilitation at the Hancock County Justice Facility.

Lt. Larry Willis, training officer and INS liaison for the Hancock County Sheriff's office, said the course was a county initiative for the men, aged 20 to 40 years of age who had been arrested for drug and alcohol violations.

The course, taught by certified instructor Nicky Kingston, was the first in what will be an ongoing program of help for those with drug problems. The course was fully approved by Sheriff Ronnie Peterson.

Lt. Willis hopes that it will be a turning point in the lives of the participants, especially for the Cubans, who face immigration hearings on an annual basis.

"It will help when they go before the board, Lt. Willis said.

Thoughts for meditation:
 It is one thing to go through a crisis grandly, but another thing to go through every day glorifying God when there is no witness, no limelight, no one paying the remotest attention to us.

—Oswald Chambers
 In every part of every day I thank You for walking beside me. Thank You for the joy that Your closeness brings. Amen.

It is easier to see another person's deceit than our own.

Matthew 7:5
 Obedience belongs to us; results belong to God.

If you fully obey your God and carefully follow all His commands I give you today, the Lord your God will set you high above all the nations on earth. All these blessings will come upon you if you obey the Lord your God.

Deuteronomy 18:1-2
 Yielding to the will of God is not bondage — it is a blessing. Commit your way to the Lord; trust in Him and He will do this: He will make your righteousness shine like the dawn, the justice of your cause like the noonday sun.

Thanks to the men who contributed their time and talents to the success of last Saturday's turkey shoot at St. Ann's. Many thanks are also due the ladies who prepared and served the delicious lunches.

On Wednesday, May 25, starting at 9 a.m., there will be another self-esteem workshop with Sister Ann Course until 11 a.m. in the parish hall.

Immediately following at 11 a.m., ladies of the parish Altar Society will meet for their regular May meeting.

Members of the Men's Club meet Thursday, May 26 at 7 p.m. in the parish hall.

Special prayers and congratulations have been offered by everyone who has the good fortune of knowing Father Stack, S.T. a former pastor of St. Ann-St. John Parish, Father Dominick, S.T. and Father Clement, S.T. as they celebrate 50 years as priests of the Missionary Servants. These priests will always be remembered with love and admiration for their devotion to God and their parishioners.

After winning first place honors in the regional karate competition in Monroe, La. in April, Joey Statton, grandson of Julius and Mamie O'Quin, St. Ann parishioners, will be competing for national awards in the nine- to 10-year-olds division July 9 in Chicago. Good luck to you, Joey.

A good time was had by all who attended the annual May parish luncheon in the parish hall, following the 10:30 a.m. Holy Mass, Crowning of the Blessed Virgin Mary and special devotions.

REFLECTIONS ON LIFE

By Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

Going one on one

Brisk and exhilarating, the crisp air tingled my nostrils and tried to filter through the openings of my jacket.

"Just what I needed," I mused, as my leg muscles began to feel the exertion of the fast-paced, extended walk.

"Mister, could you give me 25 cents?"

Astonished to the point of silence, I looked the frightened, trembling young lady over thoroughly and, after long seconds, asked her, "Are you hungry?"

"Yes, I'm hungry," she answered with tearing eyes.

Before reaching into my pocket, I hesitated, then continued: "Are you on crack?"

"Yes," she whispered in a very subdued fashion.

"Do you want to get off crack?" I asked.

"Yes, I want to get off it. This is not for me," she responded sniffing and in evident pain.

"Are you homeless? Are you staying in the streets?"

"Yes, I am homeless. I'm just sleeping from place to place wherever I can find an opportunity."

"Then why don't you come with me? You can talk with Debra Jackson (foundress of the People's Community Organization in St. Augustine Church Hall). She will feed you and find a decent place for you to live."

"No, I don't want to talk to anyone."

Obviously skittish, she turned to walk off. I detained her by the arm and warned her that, if she intended to break away from crack, she would have to begin immediately.

"Come on, let's get some food for you," I volunteered, stepping toward the entrance of a nearby

 Feb. 1, 1990

On your 21st birthday, we want to share a moment of joy, a beautiful thought.

We turn to your memory we hold so clear in our hearts.

As a young boy — scared of the dark — we would chase away the ghosts of your nights and see that you weren't alone.

The years passed, you became stronger, wiser, and as a young man learned to stand on your own.

Your life was like the seasons, changing for many reasons.

In the fall, you were so bright, like the changing colors of dawn's sky light.

Winter, your love was warm, if we could only protect, so you would have come to no harm.

In the spring, we could watch as you grew taller and older. Now 21, can this be your summer is here, warm days to play?

Knowing Joby would be a young man today, seasons now come and go.

We love and miss you, we want you to know.

We love and miss you, Family

You are now a witness to God's power and his might.

Even though we know that it was God's will,

Sadness and loneliness are in our hearts still.

We cannot forget your mischievous ways.

Your memory is with us throughout the days.

We know that God is taking care of you.

He knows you're a special person, too.

You'll always be so young at heart.

From all of us you had to part.

We know we'll see you one great day.

You'll be there to help us find the way.

We know you're shining from up above.

We want to send you all of our love.

crowd-generating events, including music concerts, volleyball tournaments, cookouts, and perhaps, a mullet-tossing contest. (That's a contest to determine who can throw a dead one-pounder the farthest.)

Chief Frank McNeil said this week his department shut the activity down in the wee hours of Sunday morning -- but by that time other city officials were plugging their ears and wondering about the legalities of the festivities.

The music was generated at the foot of Main Street on Friday and Saturday nights, where a live band, "Crossfire," entertained a crowd drawn to Dan B's outside party. The festivities were staged on land owned by the Murphy family east of the seawall.

City Council president James C. Thriffley called the activities "outrageous," and said future outdoor jam sessions should be curbed at 10 p.m. or 10:30 p.m.

"Downtown was trashed," he said. And, area residents blocks away were pelleted with rock music until around 2 a.m. Sunday. One citizen told city council Tuesday he lives several blocks from the waterfront site at issue, and couldn't carry on a conversation due to the noise.

Thriffley said the music amounted to an intrusion on a number of residents, including the occupants of the nursing home at Uman Street. "I don't think anybody has a right to interfere with everybody else's lifestyle," he said.

Church-goers had to cope with the aftermath, he said, stepping around refuse from the partying to get to Sunday morning services.

Mayor Eddie Favre said it won't happen again -- he pointed to existing city ordinances that will limit the length of such partying, and the cost of cleanup.

Favre also said the city's curfew for teenagers up to age 18 -- midnight on the weekends -- will be enforced, and sponsors of such events will be required to pay a permit fee sufficient to pay for cleanup.

Checks will be made to ensure that no drinking is done by parties under age 21, and the city's new law banning consumption of alcohol from open containers in public also will be strictly enforced, the mayor said.

Councilman Tad Black said the city should include FICA taxes and overall city overhead in calculating the cost of labor to remove such debris. An estimate of clean-up costs should be required up-front before the city issues a permit for outdoor music events, he said.

The only resistance to a crackdown came from councilman Tom Farve, who said he couldn't go along with a 10 or 10:30 p.m. limit on outdoor music. "People just start to go out at 10 p.m.," said Farve, suggesting a midnight deadline might be more reasonable.

Councilman Charles C. Sciana said the city should ask Dan B owners to meet with Council on Tuesday, so the city and the bar owners can "sit down and discuss what the public's concern is about, and what (the Murphy's) rights and privileges and responsibilities are."

City leaders were concerned about more than the noise and the debris left behind -- they said other, indoor nightclubs had substantial investments in Beach Boulevard properties. The outdoor competition, however, stands to "ruin everything" for those business owners, Thriffley said.

Murphy, meanwhile, said he had called City Hall before the music began, to ask if a special permit would be needed. He said he was told no, since the activity was staged on private property.

He said police were on hand to ensure no under-age drinking took place, and identification cards were checked. It may be, however, that some people who work with the band are under age 21, he said.

Strong winds propelled the "Crossfire" entertainment far beyond expectations, Murphy said. That may be remedied by turning the music stand around physically, or by constructing a wall to deflect its sounds, he said.

"We don't want to upset anyone and we don't want to be a nuisance," Murphy said. But the owners do want to "take advantage of our outdoor resources." Many patrons, he said, don't like being inside a smoke-filled nightclub.

While Murphy agreed the music's volume was a problem, he wouldn't accept responsibility for the debris found later on city streets. He said the refuse could have come from patrons of the other clubs as well, and said his club made an effort to stop customers from leaving with drinks in hand.

Besides, he said, street-cleaning is a city responsibility.

Saying his customers were thrilled with the event, Murphy said another outdoor concert would be staged this weekend.

The controversy brewed up just as the city is studying provisions for a new ordinance to limit noises. In particular, councilmen have expressed concern over loud "boom boxes" and car stereos that pulsate sounds disturbing to area residents.

They are talking about exempting noises generated by indoor entertainment establishments, however.

VFW Poppy Sale set for Saturday

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

The Theodore S. Price Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 3253 will hold a Poppy Day Sale Saturday morning.

Bud Moreau, Poppy Day chairman, said, "Members of the VFW post will be at local shopping centers and throughout the downtown area of Bay St. Louis."

Bay St. Louis Mayor Eddie Favre has signed a proclamation proclaiming Saturday as VFW Buddy Poppy Day.

The Buddy Poppy has been the symbolic flower of Memorial Day since its first sale by the Veterans of Foreign Wars in 1922.

More than 1,300 children of veterans have been or are being cared for in the Veterans of Foreign Wars National Home in Eaton Rapids, Michigan. A portion of the cost is raised through the annual sale of VFW Buddy Poppies.

The VFW Buddy Poppies are assembled by disabled veterans in hospitals throughout the United States.

by Cheryl Rasbury, is now underway -- mostly to accrue the funds it takes to do the bone marrow testing. The family tested and no match was found so they are asking for help from churches, organizations and individuals. Pleas have gone out through television stations and various other media.

A bone marrow transplant involves the replacement of diseased bone marrow cells with cells from a healthy donor that are transfused into a patient's veins through an IV, just like a blood transfusion. Within two to three weeks, the transplanted bone marrow begins to produce normal blood cells in the patient.

Rasbury has distributed a number of flyers to try to help Green's cause. The drive is dual-purpose in that it concentrates on getting monetary help and on donations of items that can be used in drawings to raise funds. Also needed are donor sites, supplies such as printing flyers, volunteers to help distribute them and to help with drives, besides the much needed funds to make it all happen.

"The drive has perked her up," Rasbury said of Green's present mental condition.

Each bone marrow test costs $60. Many people are willing to be tested, but cannot afford the fee. Rasbury said that any questions regarding the testing procedure can be forwarded to her at 466-9453.

She said that blood type was not a factor in choosing a suitable donor. All it takes is a simple blood test to see if one is a compatible marrow donor but the odds are 1 in 20,000 of identifying an unrelated compatible donor. If a match is found on the first level, additional testing will ensure a final compatibility with the patient. Then, if there is a confirmed match, the transplant can be scheduled.

"Sixty-two people are waiting to be tested, the money is crucial," Rasbury said.

Supporters will set up collection sites at Winn Dixie from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. Saturday, May 21 and at WalMart from 9 a.m. Saturday, May 28 to take donations.

Testing will be done on Sunday, May 22 from 1-5 p.m. at The Word of Faith.

When a match is found, Green will have the procedure at Tulane Medical Center in New Orleans. She will have to undergo irradiation therapy, which will destroy both good and bad cells to prepare her for the transplant. The actual transplant takes only minutes to perform, but Green will have to spend an extensive period in recuperation until her cells are rejuvenated.

Calls from family members of transplant recipients and a bone marrow recipient have boosted Green's morale and have shown her hope, although she finished still another chemotherapy treatment earlier this week. She is in Gulfport Memorial Hospital under the care of oncologist, Dr. Edwin Davidson. She is expected to be there for at least 10 days.

Several local florists have sent flower tributes to the brave young woman, Rasbury said.

"Cassie is in pretty good spirits... she's put it in God's hands," said her stepfather.

CUEVAS QUOTES

By Ellis C. Cuevas

This weekend marks the big St. Clare's Seafood Festival in Waveland.

Activities begin on Friday night with a big fish fry from 5 to 10 p.m.

Some very good seafood dinners are on tap Friday night and, this would be a good excuse for mothers to get out of the kitchen.

Seafood festival activities are set for Saturday from noon until 10 p.m. and Sunday from noon until 8 p.m.

There will be boiled seafood, gumbo, shrimp bordelaise, B-B-Q, fried fish, shrimp-on-a-stick, hot dogs, hamburgers, po-boys and other delicious foods.

Guest chefs from along the coast will be doing their specialties, too.

There will be plenty for the kids to do too, as there will be a space walk, rides and games.

The seafood festival and fish fry is a family affair, and everyone is invited.

Proceeds from the festival go toward St. Clare's church and school.

St. Clare's is located on Beach Boulevard in Waveland.

I hope to see you at the fish fry and seafood festival.

Congratulations are in order for the Bay Tech Lazars, who captured the 1994 U-16 American Cup Championships recently in Tupelo.

The girls, coached by John Scafile, who is assisted by Virginia Felder, shut out their opponents in seven games played for the championships held in Tupelo.

The soccer champs are Rachael Perniciaro, Annette Morel, Gwyn Krost, Michelle Perniciaro, Nikki Krost, Julie Heitzmann, Jennifer Storey, Renee Jensen, Ellen Felder, Marion Labat, Katrina Nordin, Kathryn Scafile and Melissa Carver.

Soccer is becoming more and more popular each year, and I know that it is only through years of preparation by these young ladies that they were able to bring back a championship to the area.

We have a lot of coaches, assistants, team sponsors, league officials and other players in the BAYS soccer league to thank, too.

Best of luck to all league members in the years to come, and I am sure more championships will be coming our way.

Just think, we are already past the mid-point of May with June fast approaching.

It looks like 1994 is really flying by as summer is upon us once again.

This will mean more fairs, festivals, concerts in the Park, and fishing rodeos for residents and visitors alike to enjoy.

The big fishing rodeo is the annual Mississippi Deep Sea Rodeo at Rice Pavillion in Gulfport over the July 4th weekend.

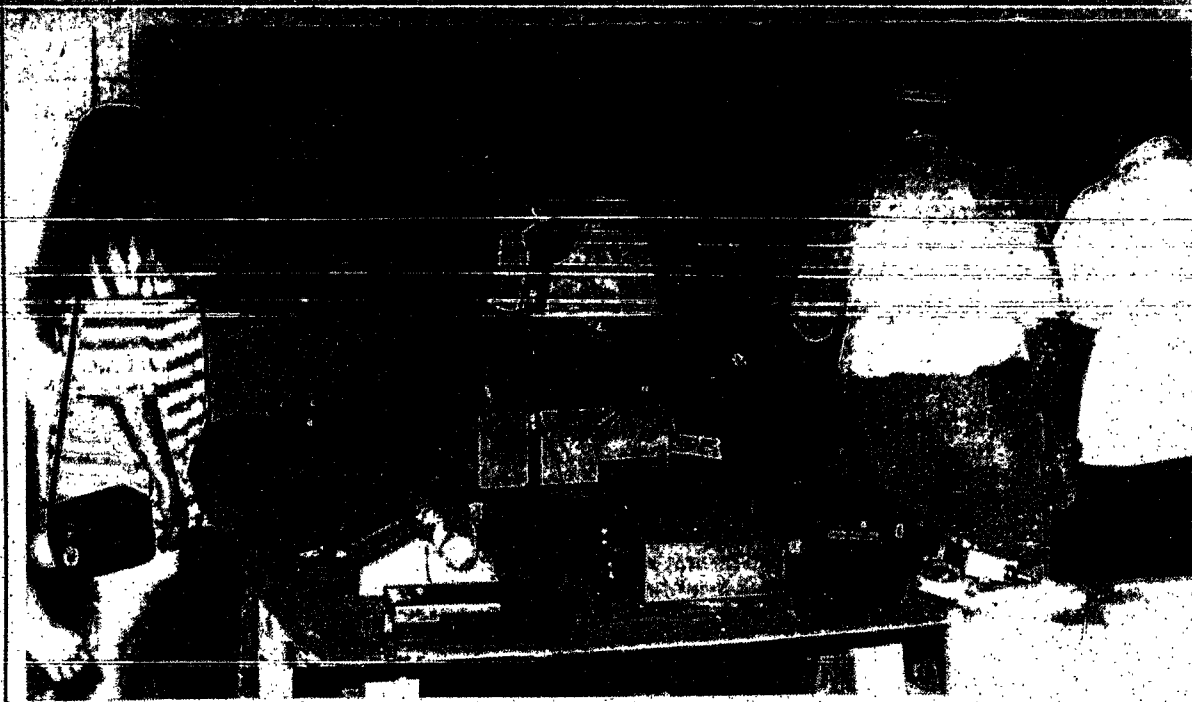

I am hoping everyone will have a great summer.

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce is seeking young ladies ages 18 to 22 years (by July 30, 1994) to enter the Miss Hancock Chamber contest.

Deadline is next Tuesday, May 24.

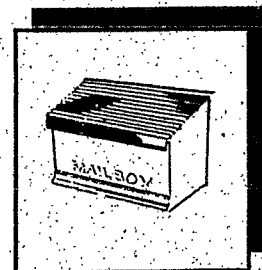

This is a great opportunity for the young lady selected as she will represent the chamber at many functions in the coming year. The Mississippi Deep Sea Rodeo is one of the events.

For particulars, call the chamber at 467-9048.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Reader feels supervisors and Waveland should be commended

To the Editor:

In view of the acute housing shortage facing the entire Mississippi Gulf Coast, the Hancock County Board of Supervisors and the Board of Aldermen of the City of Waveland are to be highly commended for their current efforts to obtain the maximum available funds for their respective jurisdictions under the Mississippi Home Investment Partnership Program.

This grant from the Mississippi Department of Economic and Community Development will provide for the rehabilitation and repair of 15 to 20 homes of low income households per jurisdiction.

The wisdom and necessity of maintaining existing housing stock in a viable condition has been too long ignored in many communities.

New units are both welcome and desirable, but current costs of development are rapidly pushing homeownership far out of reach for low income families. The myriad social goods associated with the promotion and maintenance of homeownership need not be lengthily outlined here: community stability, tax base, capital formation, etc.

Not to be completely overlooked are the additional benefits of the three-quarters of a million dollars that would be contributed to the local economy over the next two years if both grants are obtained and fully exercised.

Zoning officials need to be in 20th century

Dear Editor:

Baby Boomers are alive and well in Bay St. Louis—perhaps also Redneck members of the City Zoning and Planning Board.

Is that bad, you say? The answer depends on your point of view. As I see it, they have only "me" in mind and to hell with everyone else.

The casino has brought prosperity and lower taxes to Bay citizens along with new services.

Not a thing wrong with that scenario!

However, when a citizen proposes to build nice apartments to alleviate a housing shortage on property already zoned commercial, they shout as a body "No way, let those casino transients live in Waveland."

I live in Waveland, and that's okay by me, but you can't have your cake and eat it too: share your casino revenue with Waveland and we'll gladly allow new construction.

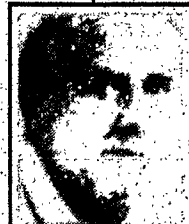

Solid citizens of Bay St. Louis should muffle those Redneck-Baby Boomers, accept the fact the casino and its employees are here to stay.

Transients are people who stay at hotels or motels, a KOA, Buccaneer Park or rent a condo by the week.

Casino employees and these apartments would be leased by the year, no different than any other national corporate employees subject to transfer.

Wake up, Bay St. Louis—it's the 90's!

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

Polls predict 'very tight' 1995 gubernatorial race

Several polls that have been conducted recently make Gov. Kirk Fordice's chances of reelection in November, 1995 look anywhere from good to very good. But keen political observers see some warning signs that a second Fordice term is no cinch at this point.

To begin with, there is one political axiom about Mississippi gubernatorial elections: not since the Second World War has the front runner for governor a year and a half before the election emerged as the winner.

The Fordice camp was elated a week or so ago when they got back the raw results from their own poll of 500 respondents done by Republican pollster Verne Kennedy in the last week of April. As one Fordician put it: "Our numbers went right through the ceiling."

While the hard numbers were being closely guarded, a Fordice leader familiar with the polling figures said the key matchup of Fordice against Dick Molpus, the likely Democratic nominee, showed Fordice ahead "20 to 30 points" using four different measuring criteria.

Fordice showed slightly better when matched against Ray Mabus, the former governor whom Fordice edged to win the seat in 1991.

Fordice came out ahead, 51 to 39, when matched against Molpus in Mississippi State University Social Science Research Center's poll between April 4 and 13, from a sampling of 362 likely voters, said survey director Steve Shaffer.

Conducted by MSU political science students, the poll has a 5 percent, plus or minus, error factor. The results were weighted by demographic characteristics such as education, race and gender.

Perhaps the most surprising result of the MSU poll is that Fordice did not come in with higher numbers than 51 percent, considering the fact that the survey was conducted right at the peak of his popularity from vetoing the pay raise for state legislators.

The legislative pay hike was overwhelmingly opposed by Mississippians, according to every indicator, and Fordice's veto was widely acclaimed in the press and in public forums.

Fordice had a tremendous advantage over Molpus from the standpoint of exposure since the governor's name was constantly front-page news in newspapers and lead stories on television and radio news during the polling period.

Molpus, as the secretary of state, had little relative visibility in the press or broadcast media at the time, having already enjoyed his last spate of publicity in connection with passage of the lobbyist reform bill several weeks before.

Shaffer said the polling data showed that only 1 percent of the likely voters lacked enough information to rate Fordice's job performance, while 13 percent said they were unable to rate Molpus' job performance.

Both political figures came off well in voter perception of how well they are doing their jobs — Fordice being rated excellent or good by 55 percent of the respondents, and Molpus excellent or good by 52 percent.

As could be expected, Democrat Molpus was less favored among male voters than Fordice (57-35 edge for Fordice), but among female voters, Molpus ran a dead heat with Fordice (43-45).

Surprisingly, Fordice was favored by 18 percent of blacks (to Molpus' 74 percent), and not surprisingly, Fordice led Molpus 62-27 among white voters.

Some distortion in the MSU survey results is perhaps indicated from a breakdown of their relative support by congressional districts. Fordice wins in each of the five districts, including the Second, the Democratic stronghold, where Fordice had 50 percent to Molpus' 42 percent. Also, the Molpus camp would debate their man showing weakest in the 5th District, 36-48, with a high 16 percent undecided.

In the view of Shaffer, the MSU political science professor who has been running the Mississippi Poll for about 10 years, the race between Fordice and Molpus (of course assuming he gets the Democratic nomination) should tighten once the voters know who the Democratic nominee is.

His projection is a "very tight contest" is in prospect for the 1995 gubernatorial general election.

All of that, as we know, is subject to change, and will depend on which of the candidates is able to define the issues in the campaign, and how he is able to project himself. Perception, as they say in politics, is reality.

much of the controversy that has overshadowed military commissaries. Several proposals were floated last year to either close or cut funding for commissaries.

Should the Pentagon present Congress with a plan to close either the commissary at the Seabee Base in Gulfport or the commissary at Keesler in Biloxi, I would vigorously fight it.

The committee also added $40 million to the Department of Defense's Defense Commissary Agency Budget.

IN CONGRESS

By Rep. Gene Taylor

Good news for Mississippi's military retirees

If you're a military retiree, and haven't already heard the good news, the House Armed Services Committee has agreed to eliminate the disparity between civilian and military retiree cost-of-living adjustments, and increase funding for military commissaries.

Before the committee voted in favor of the two measures, which were included in the Fiscal Year 1995 Defense Authorization bill, I met with many of South Mississippi's military retirees and was contacted by hundreds more to discuss what had been labeled "COLA equity."

Because of budgetary constraints within the Department of Defense, it was decided a couple of years ago to delay COLA's to military retirees in 1995.

As I explained to those interested in the committee's final agreement, one of the best ways to get an issue that concerns our nation's defense before Congress is to have it included in the Defense Authorization bill.

If a member's measure is not included in the Defense Authorization bill or Defense Appropriations bill, both of which are drafted once a year, there is little chance it will be considered by Congress.

As a member of the House Armed Services Committee, I worked closely with Congressman Ike Skelton, chairman of the Subcommittee on Military Forces and Personnel, to find a solution.

May 5 we were successful. The committee unanimously agreed to restore COLA equity to military retirees.

The committee also tackled

Water

cate in 1967 to provide water and gas services in the Cedar Point area, before it was annexed by the city. It is a "fairly significant area," covering residences from Felicity to Joes Bayou, extending to the beach between Pogo and Pine streets, he said.

The city leased the lines after it annexed Cedar Point, but the lease expired in the mid 1980's, Favre said.

Meanwhile, city plans were drawn to install sewer lines in the middle of North Beach Boulevard. Council members vetoed that idea, saying it would cause prolonged, unacceptable disruption to traffic. (Councilman James Thrifley said city officials once considered running the lines along the seawall, but environmental officials "kind of went crazy" over that idea.)

Engineers went back to the drawing board and designed a plan to put the lines in public right-of-way west of the roadway. But that would require relocating the water lines already in the right-of-way. Sewer and water lines have to be separated by a certain distance.

Johnson Utilities, which reportedly bought Sea Shore Utilities, has told the city it can't touch the water lines without a financial settlement. "They've been sitting there all this while, just waiting to pounce on us," Scianna said of the utility officials.

"I feel like saying if you want to build the system, built it, and just call their bluff," said Thrifley. "We have the money ... we're ready to do business, but our hands are tied right now."

With $100,000 in engineering fees spent, the project at last was ready to go to bids, and the city has set aside money to pay for the construction.

Residents of the area at issue say some Cedar Point residents' septic tanks drain directly into the Bay of St. Louis. They questioned if the city could at least construct part of the system, in areas not directly impacted by the water line issue.

Favre said cutting the project into small segments would make the price prohibitively high. "We'll be looking at costs we can't touch," said the mayor.

One resident said he had thought the project was delayed only because the residents hadn't complained enough to generate city action, "while we sit back and spray the mosquitoes and smell the sewage in our back yards."

Favre said hopefully the project will be under construction in October.

In other business, council: --Agreed to help finance printing additional copies of a promotional brochure and map which area businesses hand out to tourists. One merchant, Candace Strahan, said the new brochure will be updated to include new shops and to expand information on area points of interest.

--Agreed to pay Compton Engineering $12,200 to conduct smoke tests in some 70,000 linear feet of the city's sewer line system. The tests, to locate deterioration of the lines, will cover about a fourth of the city's system. Other contracts will be let for additional testing later.

--Authorized negotiations for purchase of the municipal parking lot the city now leases on Beach Boulevard, and the beach front lot that goes with it. City officials want to repave and landscape the parking lot, and are negotiating for additional public parking downtown.

--Allocated up to $1,200 for the second in a series of city concerts in the park by the old City Hall. The first concert, last Saturday, was a "tremendous success," Mayor Eddie Favre said. Net costs to the city were $350. Favre said the next concert will be June 17th, with music by Jerry Fisher and a "Big Band" era theme.

--Learned that legal snags continue to stall purchase of the former CSX depot. City attorney John Seafide said federal highway officials have reservations over CSX's refusal to grant clear title to the entire structure, which would be renovated with federal grants if the city acquires it.

Seafide said he expects to have the issues resolved by mid-June.

--Acknowledged checks totaling over $394,000 in taxes on Casino Magic's revenue and gambling devices.

supermarket and ushered her through the door. "Look, there is a deli to the far right side of the store."

While she ordered a large cheeseburger, I continued my inquiry: "How long have you been on crack?"

After a brief exchange of numbers and days, she sighed, "For a few months. But I haven't used it in two days." "Congratulations! If you have managed without it for two days, you can make a permanent break. How old are you?"

"I'm 20 years old." A refreshingly pretty and vulnerable waif, I had her age pegged at about 17. Considerably disturbed about her being able to buy crack, I asked her a personal question: "You haven't let men take advantage of you, have you?"

"No," she said, "I haven't done that."

"I'm happy for you. Stay out of that."

"I will," she assured me.

"You're cold, aren't you?" I asked, observing how she shivered without stopping.

"Yes, I'm cold, but I want to go home."

"Where are your parents?"

"My mother is dead, and I don't know where my father is. I live with my sister. I'll go home to my sister."

Before I knew it, she had planted a moist, affectionate kiss on my lips and was holding me in warm embrace.

"We adults outnumber the crack addicts and other problem children," I reflected as I resumed my walk. "If each of us would take just one under our wing, win her/his confidence and guide her/him through to the end, we could all win."

IN AND AROUND DIAMONDHEAD

By Margaret Williamson

DIAMONDHEAD NEWCOMERS
An interesting and informative slide presentation was given by Major Doug Lipscomb from Keesler Air Force Base Hurricane Tracking Center at the last get-together luncheon of the Diamondhead Newcomers Club Friday, May 13 at the Day's Inn.

Hurricane season is fast upon us, and it's never too soon to prepare. Start by knowing your evacuation routes. Make sure ahead of time that you're stocked with pure water, flashlights and batteries, canned goods, etc.

When asked by several in the audience about what to do and when, Major Lipscomb advised that "when the storm enters into the Gulf, prepare to leave."

New officers were installed by Kathy Wood. ## Diamondhead Century 21 high on customer service

For the second year in a row, Century 21 of Diamondhead was the recipient of the real estate organization's honors for customer service.

The Quality Service Award, first presented to franchisees for 1992 service, is based on surveys returned by clients who answered questions about the service they received from Century 21 brokers and agents during the year.

The local office was among the offices in the Century 21 Gulf Coast Brokers Council honored for production through 1993 at an annual awards banquet held Feb. 26 at the Broadwater Beach Resort.

Specifically, Century 21 of Diamondhead was in the spotlight as a recipient of the prestigious Centurion Award, the highest honor given within the Century 21 system.

Foundation makes grants

At its spring full board meeting, the Gulf Coast Community Foundation approved grants of over $10,000 to support local public education. Grants were made from six advised funds that are managed by the Foundation as part of its "Pat Santucci Friends of Public Education" program.

Among area recipients, Pass

Christian schools were granted $1,100 to provide materials for teachers, parents and students during and after conflict-resolution training at DeLisle Elementary School.

Grants from the Foundation's funds are made twice a year. More information may be obtained by contacting the Foundation office at 868-1563.

Local officers recognized

The Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol honored nearly 70 outstanding officers at its statewide awards ceremony May 12.

"This is a happy time for the Mississippi Highway Patrol when our officers are called together to be rewarded for their hard work and efforts," said Col. Jay Clark, Highway Patrol director. "Law enforcement is a thankless profession. For that reason, I think it is important to honor those who have excelled."

Among the outstanding officers recognized were Troopers Roy Fullerton of Pass Christian and Wilbert Myles of Waveland.

Making the most DUI arrests was TFC Bobby Grice of Pass Christian.

MEC accepting Leadership Mississippi applications

Applications for the Mississippi Economic Council's J. C. and Annie Redd Leadership Mississippi class are now being accepted through June 30.

Leadership Mississippi participants work together in a training course which combines individual study, group sessions, and actual project experience in using leadership skills. Training sessions include identification of leadership skills, team-building exercises, procedures for goal-setting, personal profile analysis, network building and improvement of communications skills.

The class will begin with the fall retreat in October, followed by winter and spring sessions. The retreat is a three-day session of intensive leadership training under the direction of some of the country's leading authorities.

Applications are reviewed, and participants are selected by a committee of MEC members based on several factors, including business and professional interests, geography, race and sex. The number of participants selected is limited to approximately 30, and the maximum age for participation is 40.

Tuition is $400, which includes the training sessions, meals and instructional materials. Additional costs to the participants will include transportation to Jackson and overnight accommodations during the training, as well as minimal expenses which may be incurred during the field-exercise phase of the program.

Applications may be obtained from Nancy Baker at the MEC office, phone 969-0022.

Economic Impact Study

STENNIS SPACE CENTER
NASA's Space Center has a significant economic impact on the states of Mississippi and Louisiana.

The report stated that during fiscal year 1993, Stennis Space Center had a total economic impact of $414.9 million. Within 50 miles of the space center, the economic impact on the states of Mississippi and Louisiana was $285.5 million.

NASA gathers its annual economic data and compiles it with economic impact information gathered from the 22 other agencies and nine contractors located at Stennis.

All of this data is then provided to Mississippi State University, where Dr. Charles Campbell, associate professor of economics, analyzes it and provides an assessment of the center's total economic impact.

In his report, Campbell stated that Stennis Space Center is a major source of employment in Hancock County and is a significant source of employment for the four-county area of Hancock, Harrison and Pearl River counties in Mississippi and St. Tammany Parish, La.

If Stennis Space Center had not been in operation in 1993, considering both direct and indirect effects, a very conservative estimate of reduction in total jobs would be 10,141 jobs, therefore said.

A similar conservative estimate indicates that personal income would have been reduced by more than $506 million, and retail sales would have been reduced by $283 million. In addition, it is estimated that Stennis Space Center had a tax revenue impact on local government revenues of $38 million.

Just as important as the amount of employment provided by the center according to Campbell, is the distribution of SSC employment by residence of the 3,887 employees.

Last year, 1,045 employees resided in Pearl River County; 940 lived in Hancock County; 846 lived in St. Tammany Parish, and 762 lived in Harrison County. The rest of the employees resided in other parts of Mississippi and Louisiana.

There are 1,586 employees at Stennis Space Center involved in scientific and engineering fields; 502 are business professionals; 1,100 are technicians or are involved in crafts or production; and 540 hold clerical positions.

Of Stennis Space Center's civil service and military employees, 7.3 percent hold doctoral degrees; 19.7 percent have master's degrees; 34.7 percent have bachelor's degrees; and 12.5 percent have associate's degrees.

In jail

Missy Thompson, administrator of Dixie White House Nursing Home, was a good sport last week during the home's observance of National Nursing Home Week. She allowed herself to be incarcerated in the makeshift jail outside the facility to raise funds for needy patients. The residents participated in different activities all during the week with assistance from many area organizations. Joining Thompson for the photo are Will Walker, Haughty Davis and Ricky Norman. (Echo photo by Charlee Marshall.)

Rocket motor tested at Stennis Space Center

A successful 15-second hot fire test of a 10,000-pound thrust hybrid rocket motor was completed May 13 at NASA's John C. Stennis Space Center (SSC).

The first firing of such motors at the center and the first use of SSC's state-of-the-art Component Test Facility (CTF) occurred with the testing of a 1,000-pound thrust motor in late 1993. This test, however, is the center's first major test performed on a liquid oxygen-fed hybrid motor.

The hybrid rocket motor was test fired at the CTF in order to evaluate fuel formulations and hybrid motor designs.

Ground testing is an ideal method for developing technologies required for larger hybrid rocket motors.

This test was conducted for the American Rocket Co., (AMROC), a firm located in Ventura, Calif., which specializes in the commercialization of low-cost hybrid rocket propulsion. Thirty-five similar tests are scheduled at SSC over the next 10 months.

Commercial hybrid motor testing such as this is an example of how Stennis Space Center, through the Advanced Program Development Office, is partnering with private aerospace companies for joint propulsion development testing. This government-industry arrangement is mutually beneficial and is cost effective as well.

"AMROC was very pleased with the results of the test and the test services provided by Stennis Space Center," said NASA's William Kahle, hybrid propulsion project manager.

"This is the largest commercial propulsion test project to date for the CTF. The test's success is due in large part to the engineers and technicians who worked on the project," Kahle added.

Hybrid propulsion technology will be used in developing launch vehicles and booster rockets that are low-cost, reliable, safe and have clean-burning exhaust products which are not harmful to the environment.

The carrier and its embarked airwing, Carrier Air Wing 17, also made two port calls to Trieste and Naples, Italy.

AIRMAN KELLEY

Navy Airman Christopher S. Kelley, son of Janice D. Besnard of Waveland, is midway through a six-month deployment in the Adriatic Sea aboard the aircraft carrier USS Saratoga, homeported in Mayport, Fla., the lead ship in its battle group.

Kelley and his shipmates are supporting Operations Deny Flight and Provide Promise. These operations are helping to enforce United Nations sanctions in the former Yugoslavia.

Special Olympics

Summer Games
Keesler Air Force Base
May 13-15

Nearly a thousand Special Olympic Athletes arrived at Keesler Air Force Base Friday to compete in the 26th Annual Mississippi Special Olympics. Olympians were athletes, age eight and up, from 18 areas of the state.

The Mississippi Gulf Coast, designated as Area Three, includes Hancock, Pearl River, Harrison and Stone counties. Representing this area were Mary Kate Anderson, Tona Anderson, Michael Benfield, Mary Catherine Clark, Clyde Collins, Michael Crain, Craig Cullum, Marvin Daniels, Crystal Dover, Nathan Erns, George Golanke, Brenda Hiles, Jeff Hoda, Stephanie Holliman, Bobbi Jo Kirk, Mark Ladner, Victor Lott, Jerry Nesh, Julie Oliver, Dawn Ritter, Mitchell Roberts, Greg Shults, Anthony Stallworth, Tabitha Turnage, Kerri Watts and Peggy Wilson.

Special Olympics provides year-around sports training and athletic competition in a variety of Olympic type sports for all mentally challenged children and adults. The games give them continued opportunities to develop physical fitness, demonstrate courage, experience joy and participate in the sharing of gifts, skills and friendship with their families, other Special Olympians and the community.

The benefits of Special Olympics contribute to the physical and psychological development of people with mental retardation. Through successful experiences in sports, they gain confidence and build a positive self-image which carries over into the classroom, the home, the job and the community.

The Special Olympics program is divided into five levels, local, area, state, regional and international levels. In Mississippi, more than 8,500 athletes, children and adults with mental retardation participate in the Special Olympics program.

Opening ceremonies were held at 8 p.m. Friday, May 13 at the Keesler Air Force Base parade field. To kick off the exciting event, spectators were treated to parachute jumps, inspiring speeches by honorary coaches, Johnnie Cooks, New York Giants' M.K. Turk, U.S.M. basketball star Randolph Keyes, formerly of the Cleveland Cavaliers, Rep. Bob Short, president of the Mississippi State Olympics and Gen. Karen S. Rankin, KAFB.

Entertainment was provided by Alan Bates, Louis Boston, Special Olympian, and Miss Mississippi, Lenora Holder.

The opening ceremony was highlighted by the Parade of Athletes, the Lighting of the Torch, and a gigantic fireworks display. Athletes competed in sports such as aquatics, wheelchair events, volleyball, developmental basketball, softball throws, 50-400 meter dashes, 100 and 400 meter walks and 800-1500 meter runs. Athletes were assisted by volunteers from Mississippi.

Area students eligible for NASA grant

Students enrolled at Pearl River Community College and at high schools in the college's district next year are eligible for a $500 NASA grant to conduct scientific research.

Two high school and two PRCC students will receive grants by Oct. 31. High School students from Forrest, Hancock, Jefferson Davis, Lamar, Marion and Pearl River counties may participate by submitting proposals to PRCC. Personnel from PRCC, the University of Southern Mississippi and NASA will review the proposals.

NASA set up the grant to encourage students of all grade levels to pursue careers in math, science and engineering.

Interested students must submit proposals to Dr. Catherine Cotten, chair of PRCC's computer science department. Deadline to submit proposals will be this fall.

Areas of research covered include various physical and natural sciences. Science education, psychology and engineering are included.

The grant limit is $500 for each student project with the total given based on the amount requested in each proposal.

"That will get them started," said Cotten, "The grant will also help buy supplies and books to build a personal library, or to get the computer software needed to carry out the project."

"The students can keep what they buy," she said, "But the purpose of the grant must be a research project."

PRCC will put students in contact with professionals if requested, and students will have access to global computer network facilities such as Internet at PRCC and USM.

PRCC recipients will participate in the Mississippi Academy of Science. High school students will have a choice to participate in the Junior Academy of Science or the University of Mississippi's Science Symposium.

"The high school students also may decide to use their research for science projects," Cotten said.

For more information, contact Dr. Catherine Cotten at Pearl River Community College, Station A, Box 5088, Poplarville, MS 39470, or call 795-6801.

Harry R. Hull Jr., attended St. Joseph Seminary High School and Junior College in St. Benedict, La. and Notre Dame Seminary in New Orleans.

After receiving a bachelor's degree in business administration and a J.D. in law from Loyola University, he served in the United States Marine Corps for four years.

Following his discharge, Hull served as the assistant district attorney in Orleans Parish, the assistant United States attorney in the Eastern District of Louisiana and the chief assistant district attorney in the juvenile division of Orleans Parish.

After obtaining a BS in mathematics education from the University of New Orleans, Hull pursued the teaching profession.

Hull has been a teacher of mathematics for a total of 11 years, ten of them at OLA. He has not only taught all of the math courses at OLA, but he has also been instrumental in making changes in the curriculum of the mathematics department.

Algebra I was introduced into the eighth grade, and calculus was added to the senior year. Hull currently teaches geometry, advanced math and calculus.

Harry R. Hull Jr.

As athletic director, coach and coordinator of the student Crescent Athletic Club, Hull has been responsible for adding softball, cross country and soccer to the already existing tennis, track and volleyball teams.

Next year he plans to organize a basketball team at OLA. Hull has also worked with St. Stanislaus High School in getting the OLA girls to join the SSC sailing and swimming teams.

During the current year, he also organized a Parent Booster Club for OLA's athletic program.

More than 300 high schools participate in the STAR program. Funds for the scholarship awards are provided by the Phil Hardin Foundation of Meridian and Sanderson Farms, Inc. of Laurel.

State announces orientation sessions

Students enrolling for the first time this fall at Mississippi State University are invited to attend one of five campus orientation sessions scheduled during June.

Three two-day sessions for incoming freshmen and two single-day programs for transfer students are designed to provide a head start in preparing for college life. In addition to scheduling fall classes, students will have the opportunity to meet faculty members and administrators, as well as students already enrolled.

Separate, concurrent sessions are offered for parents of attending students.

This year's dates for freshmen are June 11 and 12, 16 and 17, and 25 and 26. Transfers will meet June 10 and 24.

Complete information on orientation can be obtained by writing the Office of College and School Relations, Box NN, Mississippi State, MS 39762, or call (601) 325-3076.

SSC/Bay High Alumni Football Game

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

It's that time again. The one game a year that pits the old rivals against each other for a good cause. The game I am talking about is the St. Stanislaus/Bay High Alumni football game.

The players are friends before and after the game; however, during the game allegiances to both schools run deep.

The Bay High/SSC alumni game is a full contact football game put on by former players of each school in order to raise revenue for the athletic departments of both schools. The "old men" strap it on one more time for the glory days to give something back to the school in hopes to help its current players.

Sean Logan commented, "The game is for the athletes at the school now. This is just our chance to strap it on one more time. We just want to be able to give to the young athletes today."

The brain-child of Sean

Logan and Mike Proulx has blossomed into an annual event that the community is eager to see each year.

For the spectators, it gives them a chance to see the "gridiron, greats of the past" in form once again. For the players, it gives them a chance to "bust somebody" one more time.

With great turnout the past two years, the annual event is looking to eclipse last year's total amount raised.

The first game was won by Bay High 10-7. Last year's game was dominated by SSC 20-0. This year the game returns to "the friendly confines" of St. Stanislaus Stadium.

The game will start at 7:30 on Saturday, May 21. Admission to the game is $3 for adults and $2 for children.

Come on out to Rock field and watch the heroes of the past make the vicious hits that made them famous while they benefit the young athletes of today. See you at the game.

The OLA doubles team defeated Newton 6-0, 6-1, St. Joseph's of Greenville 6-1, 6-0, and Eupora 6-1, 6-2 to win the state championship.

They captured the district title after defeating St. John's of Gulfport 6-1, 6-0 and Mercy Cross of Biloxi 6-1, 6-1.

In their seventh grade, Heitzmann and Weems won the district and played in the state tournament, losing in the quarter finals.

Frances Voelkel coached the OLA tennis players this year. Heitzmann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Heitzmann of Bay St. Louis.

Weems is the daughter of Susan Peterson of Pass Christian.

Weems/Heitzmann take title third time

FISHIN' Y'ALL

By Jim Maness

It's time to go fishin' y'all. Listen, my children, and you shall hear of the noon day ride of Paul Revere. Maybe it was the morning ride of "Poochie" Carver. And then, and then, there was Kent Jr., alias Lil Kent.

Several hundred years ago this Revere fellow got on his horse and galloped all over the countryside warning people of extreme danger.

The same thing can be said of "Poochie." The difference between today and several hundred years ago is "Poochie" was in a 19-foot boat, warning people about the extreme danger of this Lil Kent fellow. At least that is the story I received about the fishing trip taken this past weekend by Poochie, Craig Sellier and Lil Kent to the Grand Pass area.

Poochie and Craig managed to catch quite a few nice trout as you can see from the photo taken of them. Lil Kent managed to catch at least one nice, hard-head catfish, but the black cloud over his head kept the picture showing his catch from coming out.

The fishing trip left out of the mouth of Bayou Caddy right at daybreak. They told me they would have left earlier, but Lil Kent had to take time to feed Jubilee Joe, the alligator, breakfast before he could take off.

You see, I kept telling folks there was an alligator living by the mouth of Bayou Caddy. Anyway, once they got the boat underway, they took a 120 degree heading from the mouth of the Bayou to bring them to the Grand Pass area.

I understand that Lil Kent kept telling the captain of the boat that the 120 degree heading was wrong and that they should be heading on an ESE heading.

I think most of the fishin' buddies will have to admit feeding alligators before sun-up can mess up your compass headings. But I guess it all depends on what you feed them.

The boat trip to Grand Pass covers about 14 miles of open water, so it is always a good idea to tell someone where you are going, and when you expect to be back, before you leave the dock.

Some people call this a float plan. If an emergency arises or just plain mechanical trouble stops you dead in the water, you will be mighty glad to have someone on shore able to tell the rescue folks where to look for you.

This is especially true since diplomatic relationships have not been reestablished with Cuba.

If your compass is not as accurate as you would like, and you are not sure that 120 degrees and ESE are approximately in the same direction, then it should be reassuring to know that when you are about half way to Grand Pass, at the point where you can not see land in any direction, a land mark will appear on the horizon.

This land mark will be a big, white spot on the horizon. As you continue toward this white spot you will see the Louisiana Conservation Camp located just off Grand Pass.

The welcome sight of this camp means you should not be too close to Cuba. Matter of fact, congratulations are in order, because you did a good job of navigating by compass. Unless, of course, you are Lil Kent. In that case it is a major miracle you got there at all.

When Poochie, Craig and Lil Kent got to the sand flats on the

Craig Sellier, Poochie Carver

Most productive area for saltwater fishing is Grand Pass

east side of Grand Pass, they claim there were boats everywhere. Most of the folks were out in the water wade fishing.

They were reported to be having the best results using live shrimp under the new Raddle cork. The fish seemed to like the shrimp to be about three feet under the cork.

Craig and Poochie used beetles under a cork to catch about 30 or so nice speckled trout. Lil Kent did not use any bait at all to spend the morning catching "birds' nests" in his reel.

The trout seem to run until about 8:30 or so and then they quit. So, our intrepid threesome tried fishing dead shrimp and the bottom right next to the channel. They were able to catch a few white trout to add to their evening fish fry. Lil Kent caught an oyster shell. I don't know if he fried it or not.

I have been relating the adventure of just one group of fishermen. I must tell y'all the reports coming in all indicate that the most productive area for saltwater fishing continues to be the Grand Pass — Ille La Petre area. The other saltwater areas are still somewhat slow in the fishing catching category. That's gonna change real soon.

The only other area I received any reports of fish catching was on the Bay St. Louis bridge from midnight to about 4 a.m. A few big convict fish and some nice trout were caught off the bridge the past few nights.

I pass a special caution to all who might fish the bridge at night — please, please wear light-colored clothes.

Dark-colored clothes at night make you invisible to those four-wheeled metal fish that tavel on the bridge. Nothing can ruin your fun faster than being hit by an automobile.

Live shrimp have been available at LaFrance Fish Camp for awhile. You can now find some live shrimp at Bordage fish camp, but it is always best to call them first to check on availability. Their phone numbers are: LaFrance, 467-9180; Bordage, 467-0650.

This week's wonderful wise words: Watch out for the fisherman(?) with a black cloud over his head called Lil Kent.

Dr. Hook coming to the Jubilee

Ray Sawyer, The spirited, eye-patched lead singer whose soulful and sometimes comic vocals set the mood of such gold-record hits as "The Cover of the Rolling Stone," "Sylvia's Mother" and "Sharing the Night Together" will bring his band Dr. Hook to Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino's Cabaret Showroom May 19-22.

Sawyer's abundance of stage energy, prankish sense of humor, and unmistakable voice and image lead Dr. Hook's performances with an intensity and sense of conviction that truly moves an audience. Dr. Hook's current style is more soulful than previous country-rock and pop efforts, though new releases show the humor is still there.

Dr. Hook will perform twice nightly at the Cabaret, Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino's 400 seat Las Vegas-style showroom. Show times are 8 p.m. and 11 p.m. There is a $7.50 cover

ASCS reminds farmers to report operation changes

Pearl River-Hancock County producers are urged to report any changes in their farm operations which could affect farm program benefits in 1994, said Frank Gennin, county executive director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

In order to help producers get full program benefits, he said farm records must be up-to-date.

If a farm will have a new owner or operator effective for 1994, or if a change is made in the operation of an existing farm unit, producers should contact ASCS.

"Requests to combine farms or divide a farm should be made as early as possible because reconstitutions require special processing as well as county committee approval."

Gennin said any changes in land owned or operated should be reported to ASCS as soon as possible.
